

Please do not allow the larger media companies like Clear Channel to become larger by allowing them to own more (if not all) the outlets in a given area, especially broadcast outlets. Regardless of one's political stance, everyone needs locally-based radio and TV to serve as a forum for local issues. While the economies of scale of the large media conglomerates may seem attractive, they come at the expense of the local voices in every community who will no longer be heard. Thank you for listening.
